Thursday the 31st first part fine breezes from the W.N.W steered E by S at half past 3 raised the island of St Paul to the S.E. at 5 P.M. left off S.E. middle part tacked about off the N.W. the island latter part wind veered to the N.E. west fishing with two boats also went on shore at the harbour which by the way is one of the finest I ever saw it is evidently an extinct crater filled with the sea it is of an oval shape and of sufficient capacity to moor 200 sail in. but the entrance is very narrow and at high water there is only about 6 or 8 ft. water so that vessels of light draft can only enter. there are living here two or three Frenchmen who carry on the fishing business a schooner & Brig. is sent yearly in running to Mauritius of Bourbon with the fish which they catch and salt here. the island is quite barren with the exception of very few potatoes and onions nothing grows & I believe but not being able to converse with the Frenchmen I did not gather much information concerning the island and its productions they are dependent upon the clouds for water and have casks ranged along outside of their houses to catch water whenever it rains there are a few scattering wild goats upon the island and the coasts abound with a splendid fish although they are not so numerous as formally on account of its constantly being fished for. for a great many whole ships touch and fish a day or two at with this and two French boats fishing nearly all the time fish are getting scarce. we caught about 4 lbs of fish boats returned at 5 o'clock these fish potatoes are as good as any in the world for patness as flavor even better than salmon as is generally admitted by observations of our English Captains taken on the spot he makes the harbour in South Lat 38° 42' East Long 77° 34'

~~Thursday~~ November 1st First part Moderate gales from the E steered W.S.W. Middle part ~~unfit~~ to the wind lay aback upon both tacks Latter part saw Stewarts Islands to the Westward Kept off and run for them go down to them and canoes came off at about 6 o'clock

Saturday 2nd These 24 hours layoff and on at Stewarts Island got 38 pigs and 1000 cocoanuts weather moderate

Sunday 3rd First part Lay off and on took 2000 cocoanuts 8 pigs and two men and a woman belonging to Pleasant Island to carry them when the mate came alongside in his boat he was rather diligent in his vision and run his boat bang into the quarter of the ship did no harm to her being already ~~sheathed~~ in her bottom and about three full of water was very deep and by the time they got alongside in the main rake. He was only just about afloat and in lead of bailing out their boat and so lightening her they went to discharging the boat and such a sight as never can I think one man a native off the Cape Island had to be hauled up with a rope and his hands and feet secured to keep him still the other whose vision seemed to be growing obscure instead of diligence was flying about in the boat like a hen with her head cut off first bending over a big hogs stern with a slippery hitch and then stumbling over into the bottom of the boat amongst the coconuts and the trash then up out of that and grab a coconut and throwing up on deck then digging out as a bucket to bail the boat with in vain at last he got it thrown it into the stern of the boat and rocked in it something else cursing and swearing all the while in such a barrid style that it was enough to make one shudder to hear him he was told the boat was sinking but his hearing was quite thick as well as his eyesight and paid no attention to it whatever I went to the gangway and called out to them to stop all their noise and work and bail their boat out but it was a long time before I could make them hear as they were trying to sling a barrel of flour and get it over board in their drunken attempts then if they did get it gone as I was constantly calling out to them and bailed their boat it would have turned out well enough but they all got upon one gunnale and baled the hogs water in side and over over the boat all this while I had been calling out to them bail the boat bail the boat as I let the flour go but not until the boat filled did they bail one drop up water out up per then all at once the head workman (save the mark) heard something about bailing the boat and he began to sing out bail the boat bail the boat bail the boat standing to his waist in water but he did not stand long directly he sallied over and over over the boat bottom side and they scrambled as fast as they could we held the boat along side and lowered the Starboard boat down and picked up a set oars and other things they could find adrift but it had got to be dark and they couldnt find them all now We bent a tow line on to the bows of the boat and let her go astern to wear the ship around and in wearing run out 2 shots of line all that one trip contained and bent on another trip as they thought but instead of getting the end of the line they bent on a short warp which was coiled upon the top of the line in the lead and believe they knew it. The line was gone and the boat also. We lowered two boats immediately and sent them in the direction of the boat and three boats searched from 7 oclock till half past 9 and could not find it at all So gave it up for the night and lay by for daylight. Latter part the Islands bore to the N.W.E. distant 4 Miles till we got in the range of island the same as when we lost the boat and then steered towards the island sharp tacks up to within about 3 miles of the reef and saw nothing layed the current and found it setting to the S.W.

Edwards had discovered this island and taken possession of, in the name of the United States of N. Version in January 1861 something rich this the discoverer better go in search of a NW passage he'd be sure to find one why 10 years ago I took a notice in sight of this island called Hurrys Island and it is exactly that it I am not mistaken since the 4th of January was lost on this very island and the people belonging to that ship lived upon the island some months we also learned that the Schooner Lizzie of Honolulu had been to this island in search of guano (a) some years prior to the discovery of the island by Capt. Edwards we learned also that the Ship Thos Peterson of N. Bedford Stewart master have been here in January 1862 no report of oil there is a deep channel upon the S.W. side of the island into the lagoon for boats a little guano we dug but is here but probably nine months attempting to ship but could the guano company's vessel Lizzie taken possession and erected a house as in case of Baker and other islands some ships timbers were seen upon the banks and a piece of ships planking which tends to confirm it in my mind that Bragg and Canton island are one and the same although until to day I thought the island on which the Canton was lost was to leeward of Bragg but after searching for it without success I am forced to conclude them one island the birds at this island did not seem plentiful at all a fact which tends to convince me that no great quantity of guano is here Middle part steered W. by S until midnight and hove to and lay about until daylight Latter part kept off West made all sail breeze fresh saw nothing although if Canton island said to be to leeward of Bragg existed we should have seen it visible it was exis[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [

Lat at noon 11' N an error of 8.32" gave Chro a rate as rather to make it agree with this island which lays in Lat 15' N Long 115° 21' W° Long at 8 A.M. 115° 2' 4 P.M. 115. 3'

Sunday 27th Ditto First part pleasant gales from the E. lay off the island boats returned at 8 o'clock A.M. with about 5 or 6 dozen fish and perhaps 5 or 6 dozen eggs it seems that lately they have had a great deal of rain about them and the island has been nearly overflowed with rain water which appears to have prevented the birds from laying Middle part stood upon the S.E. tack until 2 o'clock P.M. and tacked to the E. Latter part saw the island ahead at half past 6 passed about 8 miles to leeward of it tacked once during the forenoon but did not gain any

Henry Smith to pick up all the bread and meat and had it taken off and put upon the Poop besides that which came from the previous day a quantity was brought from the Steerage both to day and yesterday pieces of meat from the slop bucket and bits of bread from the hoodsleves both as well as about the table and under deck in steerage had all hands mustered aft Officers and all were present upon the main deck where the meat and the bread was picked out from the dirt and filth contained in the slop buckets then addressed the people as follows you all see that bread and that meat you see that it was a good bread and good meat and is now unfit for eating I here asked if any of them could eat that bread and meat they said no then of course I said it is wasted they acknowledged it to be wasted I then told them I should put them upon an allowance as I had previously promised them I should in case I saw the food wasted did it accordingly and gave them half a pound of good

Ship Jas. Head Bound to Arctic Ocean March 1854

Friday March 4th 10 P.M. Sea account Ship ready for sea with Pilot aboard Water police boat came off with the seamen from jail namely John Ramsdell, Jasen Sylva, Joseph Wood, Frank De Silva, Jas. Mackey James le Devine, John Kelley, and 6 d Federkes, who have been in prison for mutinous conduct and continued wilful disobedience of lawful commands as well as committing an assault upon the captain. On arriving on board they again refused duty and were again put in irons by the officers of the Ship assisted by the police men. as owing to the threats uttered by these men it was not deemed prudent to give them their liberty one of them John Kelley, assaulted the ship officers the Mates but was overpowered by the other officers and the police and put into irons and sent below the deck. Now the remainder of the crew refused duty, stating as their reason the fear of mutiny on board by these men in irons, so soon as they should gain their liberty. They expressed themselves willing to go to sea, providing the men in irons were discharged no action was taken in the matter further than that the captain went on shore for assistance and advice discharged the pilot. Sent to this day Saturday March 5th 2 P.M. captain being unable to procure any assistance from the authorities of the port and the laws not allowing men to be kept in confinement on board a ship in the harbour. and considering the ship in danger from having so many men at large in a state of mutiny had them released and sent on shore. until the morning but that the safety of the ship demanded it it being against the captains will. at 4 P.M. the American Consul was applied to but he had no power to discharge the men as they had nothing to complain of only they did not want to go in the ship any more they were requested by the Consul and Captain to go on board and to duty but they utterly refused and as the ship had been already been to great expense and delay on for these mens account they were left behind and with the plain understanding that they by their conduct had forfeited all wages due them in the ship to ends this day fair wind to go to sea and no time to spare

Sunday 6th First part Capt came on board and made preparations for getting under way three men who had been shipped at this port made application to go on shore and threatened that unless they were allowed to go on shore they should make it the worst days work the Mate ever did and must do more in the same strain nevertheless with the assistance of 6 men employed for the purpose got the ship under way about 4 o'clock and proceeded to sea while passing down the harbour the other men Michael Connelly, James Thompson and Samuel Groves. deserted the ship by jumping overboard the ship was in such a position as to make it impracticable to go after them as there was not room to come to and no boat could be lowered as it took all our force to get the sail the vessel and get the anchor up. discharged the Pilot between the heads at
